August, 1935.
August retail sales in Atlanta, based on reports of six department stores, were 39.5 per cent better than for July, and 12.7 per cent better than for August of last year. For the eight months ending August 31, retail sales were 11.1 better than during the same period in 1935.
Retail sales throughout the sixth federal reserve district embracing porate limits, after reaching in July the largest monthly total in more than seven years, declined 21.3 per cent in August, but was 74.3 per cent greater than in August last year and at the highest level, except for July, since March. 1930.

Sales of life insurance in the six states of the district declined 8.5 per cent from July to August, and were 1.9 per cent greater than in August, 1935.

"A decrease from July to August

The report adds:
"Consumption of cotton in August amounted in Georgia to 111,888 bales, in Alabama 62,077 bales, and in Tennessee 13,954 bales, the combined total being 4.3 per cent less than July consumption but 41.9 per cent greater than in August last year. On a daily sumption but 41.9 per cent greater than in August last year. On a daily average basis, August consumption was 47.4 per cent greater than a year ago. During the cotton year which ended with July, consumption in these states was the largest on record.

By their own admission, therefore, a majority of the Digest straw voters were affiliated with the losing cause of Hoover in 1932, which seemingly proves one of two things—that either Recubilizers are taking part in the Comparisons of production and stocks. IN JURIST'S OPINION

Underwood Flays Coercion of Debtors After Bankruptcy Discharge.

Salary-buying loan companies, whose claims are voided by bank-ruptey action, must abide by that action and not attempt to collect after the discharge has been granted the debtor, it was ruled yesterday by United States Judge E. Marvin Underwood, in United States district court.

"There is nothing more hazardous and nothing more dangerous to democratic institutions than an attempt to regulate a sphere of conduct which cannot be controlled," Mr. Naylor told the ad men.

"This law, because of its indefinite-ness, uncertainty, and ambiguity, is completely unworkable. If it is unworkable, it is unenforceable.

In a lengthy opinion, Judge Underwood ruled in favor of Richard F. Cleapor, an Atlantan, who asked a federal injunction against the Central Investment Company from prosecuting a suit in state courts to collect a $48 salary assignment after the debt had been discharged in bankruptcy proceedings.

"Many creditors," said Judge Underwood, "particularly those lending money at excessive rates of interest and those dealing in alleged salary assignments, . . follow the practice of ignoring the bankruptcy court and virtually annulling its orders of discharge by coercive measures, taken after discharge, in the nature of suits in state courts to no dischargable debts, or threats of garnishment proceedings. or threats of garnishment proceedings against, or of notices to employers which would result in loss of their employment; and by harassing them in many other ways... "In this manner they are made to pay.. debts which have really been discharged in their bankruptcy proceedings, thus losing the 'new op-portunity in life and the clear field for further effort,' which it is the purpose of the bankruptcy act to af-ford the emancipated debtor."

CALLANDER, Ont., Sept. 30.—(P) the Dionne quintuplets played with heir brothers for the first time today.

Ten-year-old Ernest Dionne and Daniel, four, paid their first visit to DaFoe nursery and played with their sisters for an hour. They had not seen them since the quints were mov-ed to the nursery from their home across the road in September, 1934. Ernest took the visit calmly at first and was content to watch his famous sisters from a distance. Daniel got right down on the nursery floor to frolic with them and it wasn't long before mechanical toys caught Ernest's nterest and all seven were playing to-interest and all seven were playing together.

Then they sat around a table and Ernest tried to show his sisters how to write. Oliva Dionne, father of the family, gathered up the pieces of paper with the quints' scrawls and is keeping them as a souvenir of the visit.

WHAT TO DO FOR ECZEMA ITCHING AND BURNING

Wash the affected parts with Resinol Soap and warm water to soften scales and crusts. Resinol Soap is suggested because it contains no excess of free alkali, and is especially suited to tender skin. Dry by patting with a soft cloth—do not rub.

Doctors recommend an oily ointment because it penetrates the out-er layers of the skin more effecer layers of the skin more effectively. Resinol Ointment meets this requirement, and does even more. For over 40 years it has been—and still is—successfully used to relieve quickly the itching and burning of eczema. It contains soothing ingredients that aid healing.

Use Resinol Ointment today and enjoy comfort tomorrow. Get a jar, also a cake of Resinol Soap, at any drug store. For free sample, write to Resinol, Dept. 1, Baltimore, Md.

T. H. J. MILLER RITES
WILL BE HELD TODAY
Rites for Thomas H. J. Miller, 91, long-time resident of Atlanta and retired operator of a cabinet shop on Forsyth street, who died Tuesday, and S0 degrees, approximating yesterday's range of between 65 and 81 degrees. Showers will fall from gray skies, which may be brightened by a brief appearance of the sun in the afternoon.

The Rev. A. B. Couch will officiate, and burial will be in West View cometery.

Mr. Miller, who lived at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. R. Courson, at 2273 East Lake road, N. E., was a native of Baltimore, Md., and had lived here more than 50 years. He was well known in fraternal circles.

The rain was general throughout the state, and farmers reported it helpful to fall crops.

4 OUT OF EVERY 5 MILES YOU DRIVE ARE "STOP-AND-GO"

A RED LIGHT . . . STOP. Then a traffic officer . . . STOP. Next a truck blocks your path . . . STOP. You average 30 stops every day! That's why traffic authorities estimate that you average only 20 miles an hour in your daily driving. It's "stop-and-go" that slows you down and wastes your gasoline.

COSTLY DRIVING-UNLESS YOU USE A GAS WITH THESE 3 KINDS OF POWER -IN PERFECT BALANCE

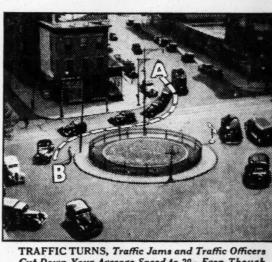

Shifting gears after one of your 30 daily stops can eat up 1/3 "mile" of gasoline. And rapid accelerating after a stop can use up 60% more gasoline than steady running at 30 miles an hour.

For economy in today's driving, your gasoline needs 3 different kinds of power-just as your car needs 3 shifts of gears.

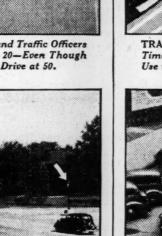

You need one kind of power for quick starts, another for fast pickup and hill climbing, another for economical running.

First to recognize the need in today's "stopand-go" driving, Shell engineers now give you the gasoline that combines these 3 different kinds of power in one fuel-Super-Shell, THE FIRST TRULY BALANCED GASOLINE.

But, at the same time, business, financial and peace workers should know that the official and unofficial authorities agree that the ship prize fight. They bring sport hope for world economic peace is much greater than the chance for it.

PROMISES For example, Treasury Secretary Morgenthau has announced the French voluntarily suggested during the course of negotiations that they intended to take up the question of quota restrictions on imports. This sounded as if the barriers to trade with France were about to be opened.

Mr. Morgenthau neglected to mention the fact that France has always said the same thing and that there is a trick in it. Her position has always been that she would one day revise her quota basis and at the same time revise her tariff rate. That's the rub. There will be no writers and customers from everywhere and the World Series, by reason of its continuity and the integrity of the game, must be conceded precedence over the big fight even though the fights often outscore the ball games at the gate. To be sure, the series sometimes presents one or even two ball teams which are regarded as not quite worthy but, in any case, a team which qualifies for the series must be acknowledged as the champion of the creatures he had made. He is the miracle he had wrought.

And yet, so easily do we overlow the fights often outscore the ball games at the gate. need for quotas when her currency is adjusted, but there will be a need for tariffs and she will revise her rates promptly in accordance with the best protective traditions. The result, therefore, will be just about the same in the end, as far as our foreign trade with France is concerned.

There will be one marked difference. American tourist travel will be resumed. It was very low during the period of distorted currency relations. The devalued franc will enable American tourists to get almost the appearance of a dive or dry splash. one-third more for their money. It means American women also will buy more French gowns, perfume and luxuries.

This, however, does not mean re-establishment of world trade or anything approximating it.

DEFICIENCIES To measure the impossibility of world stabilization and the futility of thinking about an economic conference, you need only consult a monetary expert, be he Republican, Democrat or Lemkistic.

First, there is the triplicate question of Germany, Italy and Japan. They cannot stabilize. They haven't anything to stabilize on. Their financial position is so uncertain, and their currency basis so weak, that they cannot safely discuss the matter in public. Furthermore, many an indulge in the social frivolity which has become a fixed tradition of the expert wonders whether they will ever be in a supportable international monetary position if they continue to waste what resources they have on show, along with those wrinkle armament and on unprofitable conquests over Ethiopia, which bring no

Their currency is simply in no position to be adjusted even to Lemke's, and a few miracles will be required to improve it.

As far as the big three powers are concerned, England and the United States will probably want to wait until the franc has found a natural level before broaching the subject of real stabilization between them. This will require six months or a year or more.

In the meantime, no one should consider the gentlemen's agreement as anything more than an evidence of good feeling, a promise among the three nations to do what they should do anyway without a promise, a sensible helpful working arrangement to meet a temporary condition.

FOR THE BEST Military men have been doubting that the Spanish government would try to hold Madrid after the Radrid crew would hit the trail line in the vicinity of Toledo. They figured the working the populace to settle with the Rebels as best they can. Not much vengeance killing is expected to result from the Rebels cut the rail line in the vicinity of Toledo. They figured the victory. The revolutionists want to gain foreign sympathy, and the authorities here believe they can establish a firm government. Consequently, the international reaction is likely to be quieter than if the Loyalists had won. # Are YOU Using Enough Light?

Are you sure that your favorite reading or sewing lamp gives enough light for easy seeing? Are you sure the children aren't straining their eyes and possibly harming them for life, under lamps dim or glaring? Now you can find out, through the Sight Meter --- a wonderful instrument that measures light as accurately as a thermometer measures temperature. It tells you whether your lighting is good or bad and shows you how much light you ought to have!

This Sight Meter was perfected by scientists after years of research to determine the relation of light to sight. They found that seeing involves more than our eyes . . . it involves our nerves, muscles, and minds. When you have a headache or feel fatigued and depressed --- poor lighting may be the cause!

Good lighting safeguards your eyes. It is soft and glareless and even. Dark shadows are banished. Eyes tire quickly when they look from bright light into shadows, for the pupils must be continually adjusting themselves. That's why a room should always be evenly lighted. This is the kind of lighting an I. E. S. Lamp gives you.

Your Lighting Checked FREE

Now you can find out, without spending a penny, whether or not your home has sufficient light of the proper kind. Ask us to send a Home Lighting Advisor to your home. "Yes. He was willing to free me. But I shrank from the publicity. I couldn't see any way to avoid it. So I just drifted . . . hoped for something to happen. I guess I never let myself think what it could be."
"There must have been some other reason," Deeds persisted.
"Yes . . . there was," Joan admitted. "The idea of love and marriage sickened me. I went to work to earn a living and tried to forget it all. I never dreamed that I would ever be interested . . . in another man. And I terested . . . in another man. And I think there was some crazy notion that I had bound myself to a contract that wasn't meant to be broken If I couldn't live up to it . . it didn't change matters. And there was the certainty, as time went on, that Gene felt himself bound. I may be mistaken. But it's true that he never tried to free himself. Oh, I know it doesn't make sense . . . I just drifted and drifted. And now ..."

You are supposed to remember all the names of all your friends' and cousins children.

"This is once he won't stay," Deeds interrupted. "Go on."

"Well . . he's been unpleasantly attentive. And he won't be snubbed. He's never asked me for anything or given me a chance to really turn him down . . . you know what I mean. I told you there was something between him and Dad. I don't know what. Dad keeps telling me . . . almost begging me . . to be nice to him. It's been perfectly wretched for me . . . . made it just that much more impossible to tell the truth. I'm afraid I'm pretty much of a coward. But everything seems to trap me."

"I'm' beginning to understand," anotebook. But then we lost the notebook. So now we have discovered a new system. When confronted with the child we smile pleasantly and start right in with conversation. "So you're in school now, aren't you?" wasy. And then, "I bet you haven't learned to spell your own name, have you're in school now, aren't you?" and nine times out of ten we get the answer that saves us. The only trouble is that it doesn't work with children that are too old or young. With them we just have to stay mum until we hear their mother ordering them about.

"I'm' beginning to understand," sneaking up on you, he offered gruffly.

"I heard you. Sit down, won't you?"
Her voice was as untroubled as her brown eyes. Deeds found himself thinking that they might have strolled out here together, as far as her demeanor was concerned. He dropped down beside her and waited.

"Joan had turned her face to the sea again.

"Joan had turned her face to the sea again.

"Joan had turned her face to the sea again.

"That's different, Joan It means the something more. About Gene."

"Yes," was the reluctant answer.

"There is. I was surprised when I saw Gene. He had changed so."

"In what way?"

"Gene has changed in every way,"

Joan said, answering Deeds' question.

An Inca bridge (after Squier)

In crossing wide rivers, they often used "balsas." These were boats of a sort; we might call them "raftboats." Balsa is the lightest known wood, and comes from balsa or "corkwood, and comes from bassa or cork-wood' trees growing in tropical parts of South America. The Incas fas-tened logs together to make their balsas, and an early Spanish ex-plorer declared that masts and sails were used on them. Indians in many parts of North and South America built capes and other kinds of bosts. built canoes and other kinds of boats, but the Incas seem to have been the only ones who used the power of the wind to sail across water. On Lake Titicaca today, we may see natives ising balsas.

Some streams were narrow and

THE INCA EMPIRE.

IV—Travel.

People in the Inca empire did not have carriages or wagons. Neither did they have donkeys or horses on which to ride. They traveled on foot, except for the emperor and nobles who could use litters carried by men in their service.

In the inca empire did not consider the inches of the manging bridges. We might call them "hanging bridges." for they had no solid support beneath them—each end hung from stonework alongside the canyon. Some of them had great cables a foot or more thick, made by twisting together branches of a kind of willow tree and tough fibers of the agave plant. Dozens of bridges in Peru today are pointed out to travelers as "Inca bridges," dating back 400 years or more.

back 400 years or more. The Incas also built roads through certain parts of their empire. In tell-ing about them, the historian Pres-certain parts of their empire. In telling about them, the historian Prescott says:

"One of these roads passed over the grand plateau... The length is estimated at from 1,500 to 2,000 miles... It was built of heavy flags of freestone, covered with a bituminous cement, which time has made harder than the stone itself."

The roads were needed for use by marching armies, messengers and carriers who took the emperor in his litter to different parts of the empire. There was messenger service to far places. Along certain roads were "stations" about five miles apart. A runner would give his message to a man waiting at the station, and that man would run ahead with it. Going day and night, the runners could take the message 150 miles in 24 hours, from Cuzco to the sea coast in two days.

terday awaited the arrival in Atlanta of Governor-designate E. D. Rivers, champion of the pension movement. Mr. Rivers was in Columbus, where he addressed a meeting of the Chattahoochee Valley Association.

The state supreme court Tuesday ruled that a proposed constitutional amendment giving the general assembly authority to levy taxes to pay the pension could be placed on the ballot in the general election only by Governor Taimadge. Talmadge vetoed the pension amendment and is not expected to put it on the ballot.

Mr. Rivers campaigned for governor on the pension program and is expected to take some action when he reaches Atlanta today.

Mr. and Mrs. Clay Give Barbecue at Farm Phi Pi Club Honors | Wed at Afternoon Home Ceremony Miss Ida Thomas For Four Debutantes on October 11

By Sally Forth.

DOROTHY SHIVERS, Clare Haverty, Elkin Goddard and Rosemary Manry, a foursome of attractive debutantes, provide the inspiration for the barbecue to be given on October 11 by Catherine and Ryburn Clay at their farm skirting the shores of the Chattahoochee river. A whitewashed scissor fence leads from Spalding drive to the picturesque farm in Fulton county where Ryburn and "Babylo" built their log cabin. The cypress logs came from the Okefeenokee swamp way down in south Georgia, and the stones used to border the walks that lead to and from the river, and to build the massive fireplaces in the living and dining rooms, were gathered on the farm.

The brilliant furnishings in the living and dining rooms reflect the remarkable taste and the decorative talent of "Babylo," the lovely chatelaine of the farm, who journeyed to Mexico to find the red, blue and green rugs that cover the floors. The upholstering on the "Martha's home in Opelika is ready for the newlyweds." Then there was "Honey." "Honey who?" "Honeymoon at Niagara

the unusual in that the young honor guests were the recipients of many lovely gifts, as the party was a shower for both.

The owners' bedrooms are furnished in a similar manner to repeat the maple furniture and candlewick coverlid idea. Down in the basement of the cabin the cocktail bar is fitted with rustic chairs and tables upholstered in bright red White checked gingham curtains hang at the windows, and long rustic benches add a

The covered barbecue pit at the entrance to the farm is where the deliciously prepared barbecue will be cooked and served on October 10, when Dorothy, Clare, Elkin and Rosemary will be honor guests. The rock terrace behind the pit is covered with vines laden with gourds of every conceivable shape and size, and adds a farm-like atmosphere to the scene, as well as forming a rustic background.

The sky-blue swimming pool nestling in the dell at the side of the log cabin is the most recent addition to the farm. Stone steps lead to the pool and to the bathhouse, which tops the flower-covered terrace overlooking the sparkling water which comes from an artesian well.

"Babylo" and Ryburn have left nothing on earth to be desired by their guests when they visit their country home, and their friends are ever anxious to en-joy their gracious hospitality.

RS. KELLEY ALEXANDER MRS. KELLER was getting ready to decofor the surprise birthday party she planned in honor of her brother, Marcus Alexander. Her young son, Billy, who is six, was greatly intrigued with all the preparations. When his mother's back was turned, he couldn't resist beating the fluffy icing which she had left in a huge bowl on the table. Right beside it stood the cake, the layers all stacked in readiness for the coat of icing. And every time Billy made a stroke with the beater, he unwittingly jabbed his small elbow into the soft cake, making a large hole in the top layers.

Billy was properly contrite. He wouldn't have spoiled his mother's lovely cake for the world, especially one that was prepared for his favorite uncle. Suddenly he had a bright idea.

'Mother," he begged, "please don't tell the party guests I did Don't tell 'em anything." He beamed brightly. "Just let 'em think a rat ate it!"

I knew my husband was in love with someone else and wished to be released from our engagement but I foolishly cajoled him into marrying me. We are both unhappy. What is the best solution of our WRETCHED. problem?

ANSWER:

Lillian Mae Patterns

ANSWER:

Th. best solution of your problem is for the two of you to turn in, make friends with one another, put your marriage on a rational basis, instead of an emotional one, and forget about romantic love for for the present. Nobody with any sense or sensibility would discount love in marriage. It is the unearned increment: yet with common ed increment; yet with common sense, bard work and sacrifice two young people can build a marriage partnership that is pretty satisfactory and in the end find themselves firmly built together.

long, hard grind. It there is no other men or woman in the picture they can accommodate themselves to the grind much more easily than if either of them has in the back of the head the memory of a lost love. When there is such a memory, each of them is tempted to run to it every time there is a disagreement or a disappoint-

Now tell your husband to give you a break and you give him one. Make favorite dishes. Plan plenty of amusements of the sorts he prefers. Offer him as much flattery as he can absorb without blowing up and bursting. Cultivate his friends and invite them to your home frequently. Avoid disagreements about money. Study his peculiarities and humor them. Be affectionate with him when he invites it and amiable with him when he doesn't. Let him feel that he is making you happy and the chances are that you will both be happy. He will forget the other girl when life is smooth and sweet and serene with you. There's sweet and serene with you. There's a challenge to your wit and wis-dom, your courage and your char-acter. Will you accept it?

A bit of yardage, this youthful Lillian Mae design, pattern 4189, and the result's a winsome frock, completed in minimum time. The tiniest tot of two, have had a swell time all summer and or the sturdy "growing-up" of eight, will both look adorable in this straight-from-the-shoulder style, with its roomy didn't come and didn't phone. McCarthy Pins Yankee Hopes on Lefty Gomez Today

Joe McCarthy, skipper of the Yankees, who bowed to the mastery of Carl Hubbell yesterday, is pinning his hopes for an American league victory today on the lean left arm of Vernon Gomez. Gomez showed plenty of form at the fag end of the regular season after a disappointing campaign. His opponent today will be Hal Schumacher, a right-hander. A strong swing to the Giants was noted last night. Asso-

Market Outlook By MAX BUCKINGHAM.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—(UP)-France's devaluation problem continued a major influence on the stock market today and detracted from the continuing good business reports.

The nervous course of the legislation through the French parliament, with the Blum government's position none too secure, brought further cau-tion of investors here. This very likely will continue until the necessary legislation is passed and French markets reopen.

There was some talk in Wall Street of a moratorium on trading in the French franc until markets reopen. But this was obviated when maching But this was obviated when machingry of the tri-partite accord started working and offered francs to relieve the bear squeeze which on Tuesday sent the franc as high as 5.75 cents. The franc subsequently dropped below the 5-cent level here.

With such nervousness—and market interest curtailed by the World Series—the stock market was nervous. It advanced in gains of a point in September Shares strong. Then in the last hour selling developed and the list closed irregularly lower. Trading remained around the 1,350,000-share level.

Business reports, however, continued to support optimism and most brokers felt that better prices could be expected after the devaluation program is out of the road.

Among the favorable developments to day were:

1. The magazine Iron Age said that September is tell bookings were 25 to 50 per cent better than August and the month likely would be the best of the year. Production is 75 per cent of capacity, the highest since the spring of 1930.

2. Electric power production last week was 16.1 per cent above the corresponding 1935 week and second highest on record, being exceeded only by the previous week.

3. Rural retail sales in August were 20 per cent ahead of those in August, 1935.

4. Gasoline consumption continued to expand as shown by decrease in storage of fuel stocks.

Recovery of Manchoukuo and Cessation of Smuggling Cited by Nanking.

TOKYO, Sept. 30.—(P)—China has flatly rejected Japanese demands for indemnities after alleged anti-Japanese "incidents," dispatches to Tokyo news-papers from Shanghai asserted today. Chinese authorities have told Japa-nese officials, the dispatches added, they will not only "fight to the lastditch" but will make demands them-

The Japanese newspapers listed among the Chinese demands: 1. Recovery of Manchoukuo.

2. Cancellation of the Shanghai truce which followed bitter fighting between Japanese and Chinese around Shanghai in 1932 after a Chinese em-bargo on Japanese-manufactured goods. 3. Suppression of Japanese smuggling in North China.

4. Cessation of increases in Japa-nese troops in North China. 5. Halting of Japanese interference in the administration of five northern provinces over which the Tokyo gov-ernment is reported to have demanded urisdiction.

The reports from Shanghai declared Chiang Kai-shek, Chinese dictator, contended Japan's demands constituted violation of China's sovereignty.

Neither can Chiang return under Japanese pressure to Nanking to negotiate the Sino-Japanese crisis because h, would this effect of the course h, would the course he cause h, would the course he course he course he would be considered.

cause h: would thus surier a serious loss of prestige.

The newspapers declared Shigeru Kawagoe, Japanese ambassador at Nanking, had asked Tokyo for final instructions for dealing with the critical situation.

The newspaper Nichi Nichi declared the Japanese army, navy and war ministries had agreed to pursue their objectives independently if Nanking

Low-den, secretary, and William Curry, series against the Washington Sena-tors. His third straight championship victory also was his 17th consecutive winning game of the 1936 season, even though it won't be put that way in the records. And the Yankee loss was their first in their last 13 starts in World Series play.

Hubbell struck out eight Yankees, as compared to 10 strikeouts in his opening game victory three years ago. He yielded seven hits, of which Powell, the former Washington outfielder, collected three with rifle-shot drives, but he held DiMaggio, Gehrig and Dickey, the "big three" in the Yankee batting order, to one hit by DiMaggio, all afternoon.

Giants Have Edge. The pitching edge now is distinctly with the Giants, who will send their college-trained righthander. Hal Schumacher, in quest of a second victory tomorrow. The latest word from the Giants' camp is that Schumacher is Giants' camp is that Schumacher is completely recovered from the sore right elbow that bothered him most of this season, that he is absolutely "right," and ready to give the American leaguers an old-time sample of his "sinker" ball.

To oppose the pride of Dolgeville (N. Y.), Manager Joe McCarthy, of the Yankees, picked his southpaw star, Vernon (Goofy) Gomez, who has been wild but otherwise effective and speedy in his last two starts. Gomez has the in his last two starts. Gomez has the stuff, when right, to throttle any kind of opposition but his erratic habits are such that Yankee support-

The word that Monte Pearson, Yankee right-hander, is unlikely to recover his lame back sufficiently to from his lame back sufficiently to start a single game, is another blow to the American league champions. McCarthy may be hard-pressed for pitching selections by the time he has to figure on making a choice to op-pose Freddy Fitzsimmons, in the third game, and then Hubbell in the fourth

12,000 SHORT OF CAPACITY.

Anything but a World Series game would have been called off today, despite the fact the rain didn't actually begin to fall earnestly until the last half of the second inning. It was penetratingly cold and the field was soggy from yesterday's showers, with a pool of water inundating the left-field bull-pen, but Commissioner K. M. Landis ordered the battle to go on, as scheduled, and the faithful responded with surprising enthusiasm.

The total paid attendance of 39,419 fell approximately 12,000 short of the capacity of the Polo Grounds, home field of the Giants, but it was all that could be expected under the discouraging circumstances. More than 5,000 fans were on hand when the gates opened early this morning.

the Scandinavian. He was the best pitcher in either league.

EXHIBIT A FOR PITCHING.

Pitching is the major portion of a ball game. It is, the ball players will tell you, about 75 to 80 per cent of the game. Yesterday the issue was clear—the heaviest hitting team in the game against the best pitching in the game.
You saw—or heard—or read—which won the ball

It was Old Man Trouble Hubbell, with his screw ball, a-slipping and a-fading there in the rain and the gloom of the first game.

The screw ball is exactly what Christy Mathewson's famed fadeaway" delivery was—and he never pitched it any more effectively than did Hubbell in this past season.

GEHRIG'S GREAT RECORD.

I doubt if any of the remaining Giant pitchers can prevent the Yankees' Murderers' Row from making a few killings in the remaining games.

the remaining games.

Especially this fellow Lou Gehrig. As far as color goes he commercial will depend on May-could not take Babe Ruth's place if he hit 500 home runs in field, Charlie Monseur, Zimmerman and Spratlin, all capable and fast one season. But he remains one of the great players produced by baseball.

And his World Series record is one of the best. He has been an even better World Series competitor than he has been in the regular season. Which makes all the more remarkable the feat of Carl Hubbell in keeping him quiet yesterday. His batting average in the past three seasons is .461. Which happens to be quite an average. In the 1927 series against the Pirates Gehrig got two doubles and two triples for an average of .308. He drove in five runs. He hit a single, a double and four home runs as the Yankees took four straight from the Cardinals in 1928. He drove in nine runs and had a batting average of .545. Cub pitchers were touched for nine hits in the 1932 series. He drove in eight runs and scored nine times himself. His first series was in 1926. Remember that one? That was when Old Pete Alexander, sleeping off the effects of a hangover in the bullpen, was waked up and sent into the box. He had the grass still on the uniform, picked up during his snooze. He struck out Lazerri with the bases full and two out. Gehrig got just eight hits in seven games.

Yesterday he was colder than the weather. But I rather imagine the Giant pitchers will have trouble in the remaining games. Unless, of course, rain prevents regular play. In which case Hubbell will be making trouble for Gehrig and his three associates in baseball murder.

Hill's Win Over Berg Is Feature of Round

By Dorothy Kirby.... CANOEBROOK COUNTRY CLUB, SUMMIT, N. J., Sept. 30.—What a day! It was cloudy and very cold all morning. It rained fairly hard all Other business transacted at the meeting included appointment of a committee to seek PWA funds to aid what will happen when it's raining.

Nearly all the matches were close today. The medalist, Estelle Lawson Page, won her match this morning without much difficulty, but ran into trouble in the afternoon round when she was beaten by Beatrice Barrett by 2 and 1. The English girl, Pam Barton, won both of her matches today. Marion Miley won her two matches also but had to go 19 holes in the afternoon round before she defeated Charlotte Glutting. Kathryn Hemphill scored a double victory. Some sports writer for a Newark paper called Hemphill "the dream swinger" and she is just about that. Betty Jameson, the 17-year-old Texas girl, almost beat Dorothy Traung this morning, but lost out on the 19th hole. Traung went on to get beat in the afternoon by Maureen Orcutt Crews.
